Erie 1 BOCES FUSION Fashion Show to showcase Iroquois Central School District student's works

West Seneca (March 14, 2024) – The work of an Iroquois Central School District student will be presented to the community along with those from fellow student designers in the Erie 1 BOCES Fashion Design Technology program during the FUSION '24 Fashion Show: Aurora.

Arianna Fluellen said she has been interested in fashion since she sewed with her grandmother as a young child.

“The thing that inspires me most about the fashion industry is the diversity and versatility,” Arianna said. “You really have the power to create and do anything.”

The FUSION Fashion Show, which has been running since 2009, will take place on Wednesday, March 27 and will showcase the work of 18 high school fashion students from across Western New York who attend the Harkness Career & Technical Education Center. The theme for this year's show, Aurora, was developed by students based on how the colors in the sky reflected the ideas of personal change and the feeling of community.

Arianna said her pieces in the show are inspired by the elements of life, and how she has lived through them.

After high school, Arianna said she plans to attend the Fashion Institute of Technology to study fashion, with hopes of starting her own business involving fashion design and film.

The annual show brings together talents from multiple Erie 1 BOCES programs, who support each other to ensure the success of the show. That includes Barbering and Cosmetology program students who prepare participating models for the show, along with Criminal Justice students that assist with security for the evening. The Engineering and Robotics program also assisted student designers in the creation of gears and 3-D printing for their designs.

The two-year Fashion Design Technology program at Erie 1 BOCES' Harkness Career & Technical Educational Center teaches students how to dress, style and create trends based on design elements and the fashion cycle. Students in the program also develop business plans as a part of their studies, setting them up for future success. The students' work included creating the posters and tickets for the show.

This year's show will take place at 7 p.m. on March 27 at The Show at Shea's Seneca, 2188 Seneca Street, Buffalo, N.Y. Doors will open at 6 p.m., and will close at 6:50 p.m. prior to the start of the show. Tickets are $5, and can be reserved by emailing instructor Darlene Borchert at dborchert@e1b.org. Proceeds from the show will benefit Ten Lives Club as well as the Buffalo Underdogs Rescue.
