Written Narrative

Sammy had a fantastic year. He completed all of his math units and has a firm grasp on how to solve mathematical problems. He continues to sharpen his rote memorization of math flash cards.

For Language Arts, Phonics and Reading, Sammy completed his assigned books and workbooks. He has demonstrated an ability for reading comprehension and relaying particular details about the stories he's read. He also works on writing and applying the grammar he's learning to his written topics, which varied from chapter synopsis to personal topics of interest. He continues to hone in his handwriting and his cursive letters. He greatly enjoys reading about historical topics which included but was not limited to Vikings, knights, and he is particularly interested in the Civil War.

For history, he has gained a solid understanding of the founding of America, has read about our past Presidents along with other historical figures. He has shown interest in learning about the Revolutionary War, the Civil War and some of WWI and WWII. He combines reading with watching online documentaries. History is one of his favorite subjects. For Geography, he has a solid understanding of the makeup of the U.S along with other countries and continents. Tapestry of Grace was great in teaching him about other countries and cultures.

Sammy completed his assigned science book The World of Mammals - he gained a firm grasp but was bored with it. We supplement by taking him to zoos, petting zoos, etc. We also have him signed up for monthly STEM projects which were great at gaining his interest and curiosity. For next year, I found a great science program that is more engaging than just reading a book.

In regard to music, visual arts, health ed and PE – Sammy continues to play the piano and has recently started violin lessons. He has gained an understanding of reading notes and is now learning scales. He enjoys crafts and has a solid understanding on the human body. He participates in daily PE and is currently wrapping up baseball season.

Language – Sammy has been doing brief intro to Latin and some basic Spanish words. These are just introductions. His grandmother is now giving him intro lessons to French and seeing what he is most interested in.

Sammy completed a practice 3rd Grade standardized test – Stanford 10 and scored very high. He scored well above the 70th percentile ranging from 85-99. (Optional Language)

Sammy has met or exceeded all the goals set forth in his IHIP and has satisfactorily completed more than 80% of the required materials this year. This certifies that he has made adequate academic progress in all subjects and has met or exceeded 900 hours of instruction. Sammy has successfully completed the school year and is prepared to begin ____ grade in the Fall. (Required language)
